We Dedicate . . .

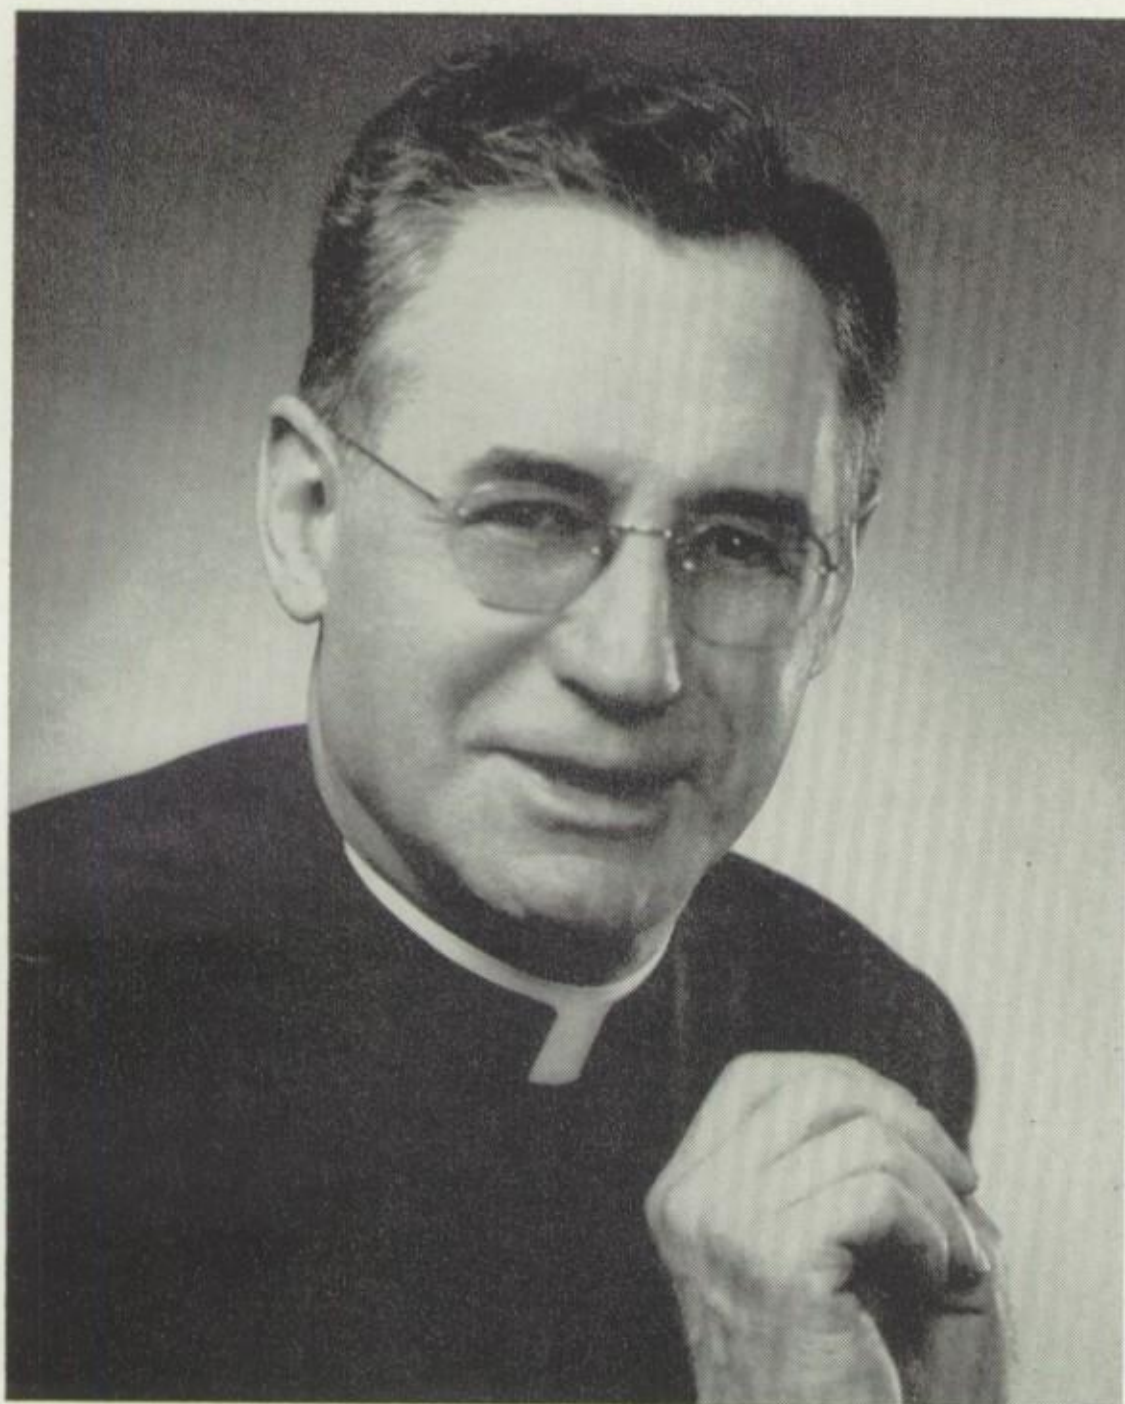

these pages to our friends and alumni, without whose help and encouragement this publication would never have been possible. The permanent establishment of Catholic education in Piqua is due in no small part to the loyalty of our past graduates and parents and to the co-operation of many non-Catholic friends who have seen the value of a Christian education to our community and nation. Beneath these spires worship the parents, alumni, and students of Piqua Catholic High School. Within these hallowed walls is housed the tabernacle of our Saviour Jesus Christ. For His honor and glory the parishioners have established this institution, that we may know, love and serve Him. In the halls of our Alma Mater are the pictures of her sons and daughters who have risen to fill important positions in our community. Most honored among our alumni are the many Christian fathers and mothers who have made their high principles the corner stone of their lives and the lives of their offspring. To you we dedicate this yearbook trusting that our lives might reflect the spirit of Christ which has been our heritage from you, our parents—our alumni and our friends.

Our Gratitude

Training youth for their future is the end and purpose of high school education. Inspiration, encouragement, and direction are provided in every school program, that capable and qualified leaders may be directed to follow those careers for which they are best suited. In every class love of God and devotion to His Church on earth are taught by word and example. The goal of Piqua Catholic High School is to prepare youth to think and to live as will best help them to attain eternal salvation. The faculty has been a means of bringing the principles of good sportsmanship, integrity, and honor to those of the younger generation.

J. Caulfield, Picada business manager, puts his "John Hancock" to a check, while K. Holler, Patron and Subscription manager, and T. Kiefer, chairman of the Ad committee, run down the list of unpaid ads.

R. Hammer, left, editor-in-chief, discusses cover selection with D. Stephan, standing, and D. Swift, associate editors.

Student Life

It is with love and gratitude and some regret that we leave these halls for the last time. In our hearts there will always be embedded a love and and respect for those devoted lay and religious teachers who have given their all for Christian youth. We are also grateful to our dear parents who have sacrificed so much to give us the Catholic education which we have enjoyed. No matter what God in His wisdom has planned for the future "still our own," whether it will be at the desk of a business man, behind the lathe of a machinist, under the white cap of a nurse, or bound by the vows of religion, we will always be proud and honored to have been graduates of Piqua Catholic High School.

Honors

Winners in the annual national poetry contest, seated, 1. to r., B. Hoban, D. Trentine, M. Mikolajewski, J. Sommer. Standing, M. Moffitt, W. Beckert, N. Edwards, A. Schneider, K. Dwyer, D. Ventura, D. Reed.

Barbara McKale and Donald Stephan show Father Von Kaenel their awards. Barbara received the highest grade among the senior girls in a nationwide Betty Crocker Homemaking test. Don received a CSMC Paladin award for placing third in the oratorical finals at Dayton.

Essay contest winners, Row 1, 1. to r., J. Stephan, C. Noles, J. Whitson, J. Munk, J. Holloway. Row 2: N. Thines, D. Swift.

Scholastic Life

Life is primarily a pursuit of happiness. God is man's last end; therefore God is Happiness. With this in mind the four year religion course is thus entitled, "Our Quest for Happiness." Its aim is to present to the student the three-fold purpose of his life—to know, to love, and to serve God in this life and to dwell with him in eternity. Living according to this teaching is the final examination toward the Eternal Commencement. It is here that Catholic Education will prove its worth.

English students put remodeled library to good use in preparing for mid-term book reports.

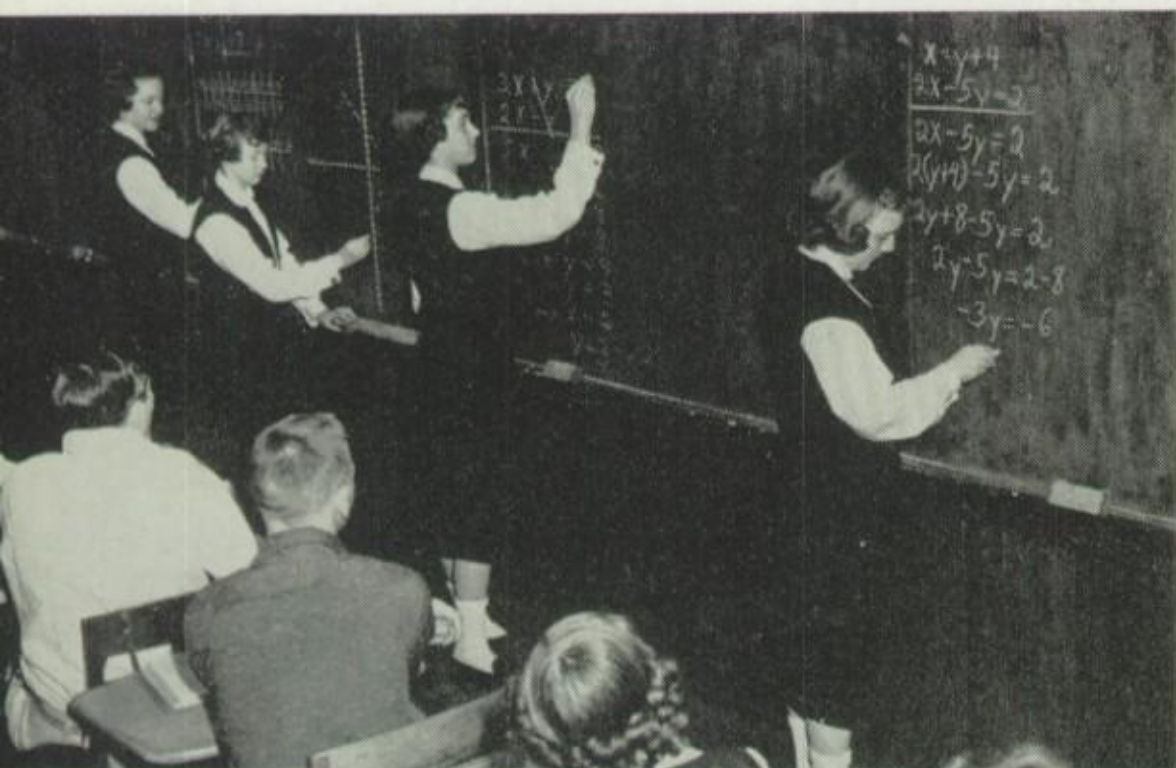

English classes provide a student with the basic tools he needs to carry on the work of his chosen profession. Literature, American and English, and the fundamentals of grammar usage are stressed. Added to the regular program is the outside reading required in the nature of book reports.

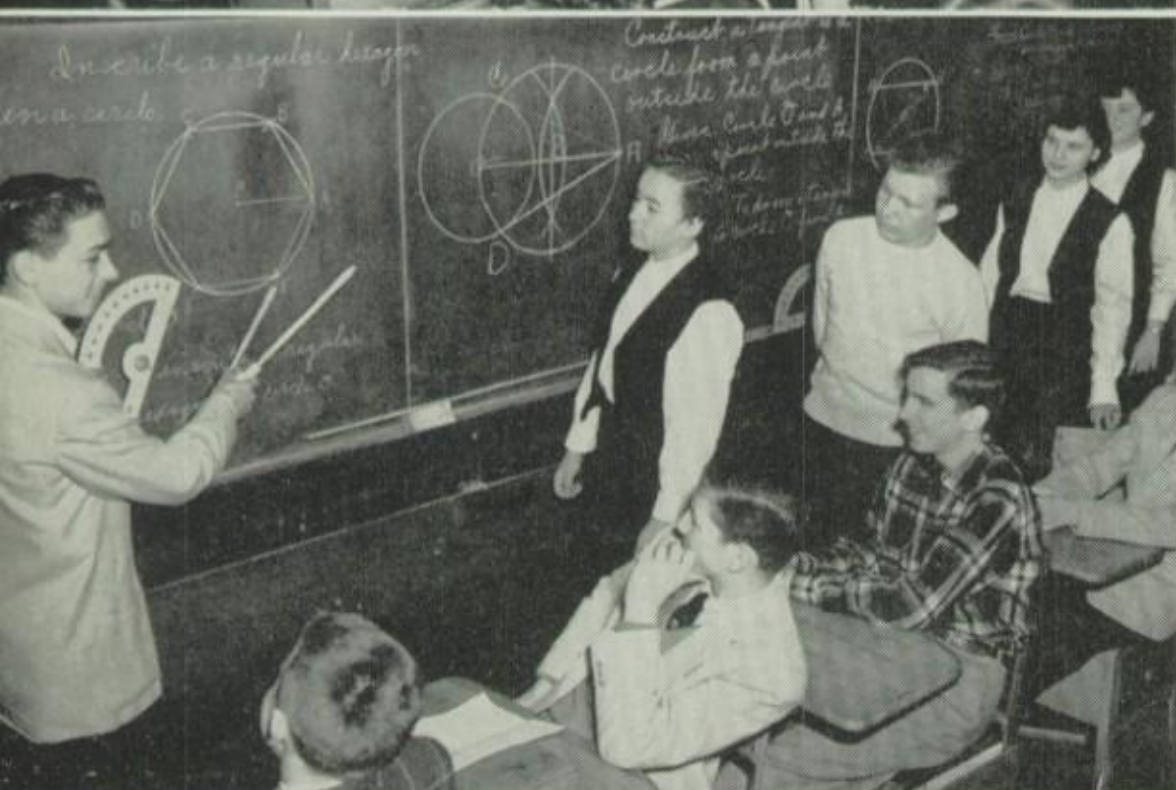

Frosh orators l. to r., S. Adlard, N. Hubley, N. Mikolajewski, and E. Stephan take turns testing voice range and enunciation.

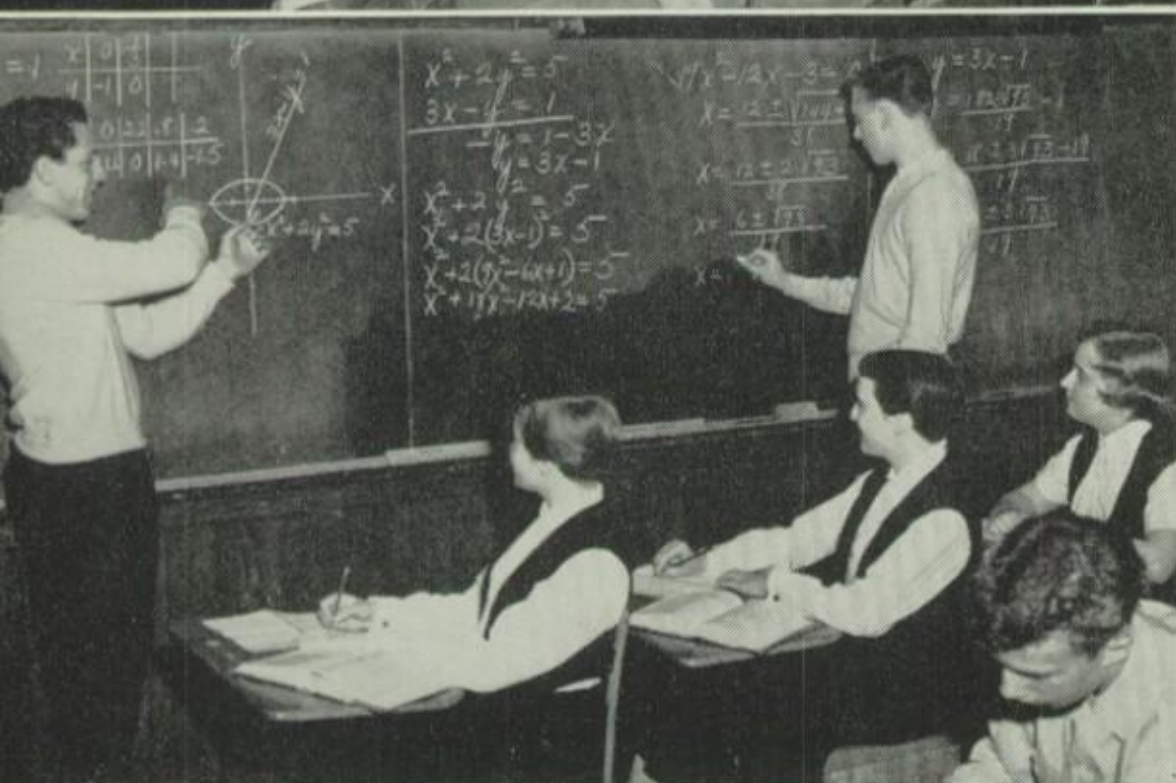

"She Stoops to Conquer" as portrayed by sophomore literature students. L. to r., R. Montgomery, M. Ferman, N. Reardon.

Simultaneous linear equations are solved graphically by K. Titus and L. Bumgardner. M. Hemmert solves the equations by means of addition and J. Mowery by substitution.

R. Ventura explains the construction of an inscribed hexagon. A. Gorman is ready to explain the construction of a tangent to a circle from a point outside the circle. Others in the group are standing, M. Guillozet, J. Sommer, J. Lewis. Seated, J. Bulger, M. Berkemeier, J. Hair.

T. Sipple solves graphically and T. Shawler solves algebraically simultaneous quadratic equations. Seated are l. to r., M. Brandewie, V. Swallow, C. Jones; foreground, R. Groff.

Science

Clockwise, J. Davis, T. Mellinger, C. Noles, M. Treon, T. Jenkins study arrangement of lights in parallel and in series.

The Mathematics and Science departments at Piqua Catholic are adequate and useful for those following the college preparatory course and for those in the special divisions. The accuracy of everyday living depend very much on these two branches of learning.

L. to r., R. Steinke, J. Sommer, M. Hoban observe the action of tropical fish in Lange's aquarium.

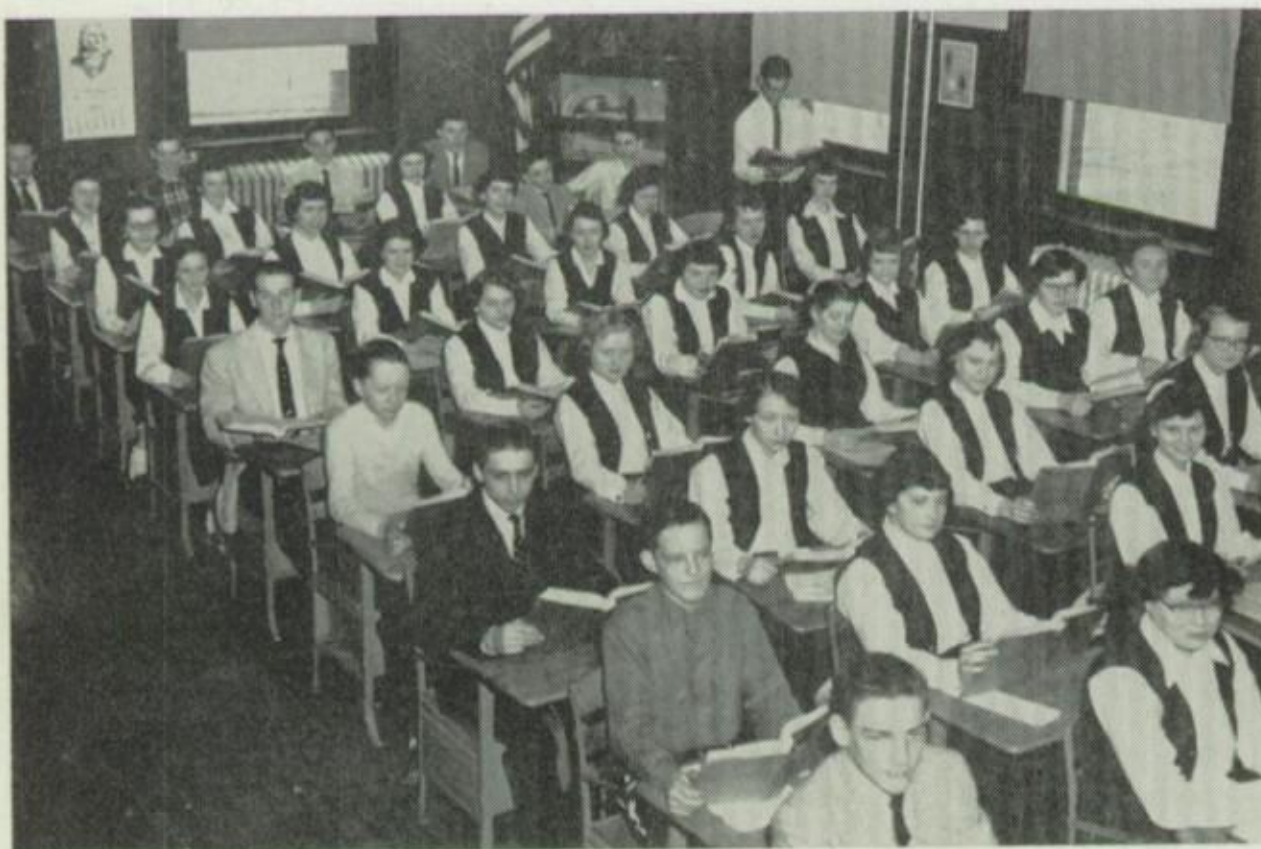

J. Castonguay explains the proof of the theorem on dihedral angles while R. Hammer completes his figure and D. Stephan and D. Swift listen. M. Treon proves the theorem on trihedral angles.

Seniors, who hope to stay on the right side of the law, pay close attention to Patrolman Hoffman, guest speaker at a civics class.

It is the purpose of Catholic Education not only to produce good Catholics but also first rate citizens. The students are well grounded in a clear knowledge of American government, World History, and those affairs which are supported with a keen understanding of the Church's social teaching. Community service and projects also play an active role in the phase of sociology.

Sophomores in World History class in a formal session.

For Efficiency

J. Munk operates ediphone while B. McKale observes.

The business course at PCH includes such studies as bookkeeping, typewriting, shorthand, and general office training. It provides the business minded youth with certain fundamentals which aid him to participate more easily in his chosen field after graduation.

J. Liest demonstrates a lesson in shorthand to a group of juniors.

Spanish class provides entertainment in traditional costume. L. to r., seated, E. Moniaci, M. Steinke, P. Bumgardner, B. Sherman, N. Edwards. Row 2: J. Staley, M. Francis, and C. Kinsella.

Monthly meetings of the Spanish Club lend interest to the classes. Enjoying educational movies, re-enacting Spanish customs and singing Spanish melodies is refreshing enjoyment the year round.

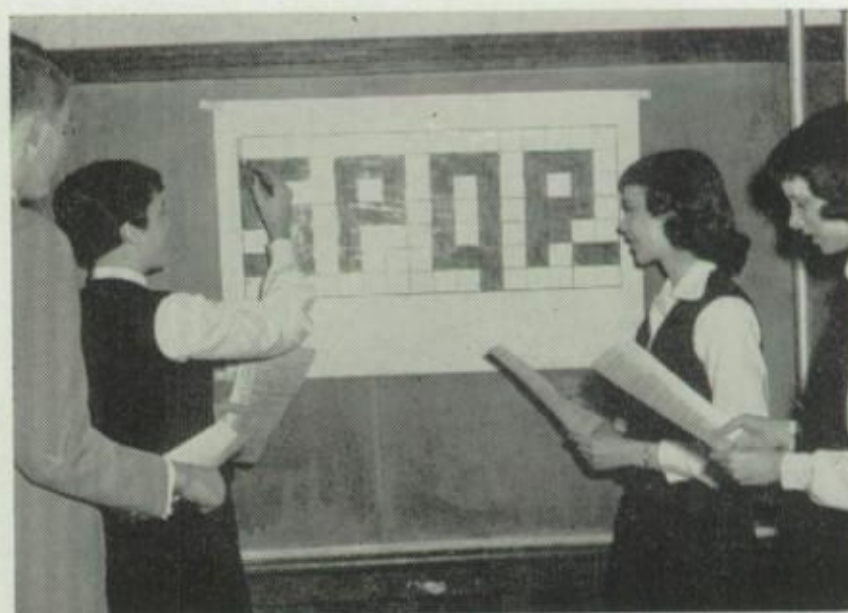

Spanish class officers, G. Walker, president; J. Staley, vice-president; P. Bumgardner, secretary; M. Francis, treasurer.

Freshman Latin students line up for vocabulary match. The "cicadae" (grasshoppers) battle the "formicae" (ants).

Latin isn't always the "dead" language that one hears about. Besides following Caesar's Gallic wars, classes are enlivened by vocabulary matches, puzzles, translation of timely scripture, famous quotes, and slogans.

Vocational Training

A few girls from the Homemaking class sample their baked goods at a serving demonstration. L. to r., S. Layman, D. Miller, J. Mowery, S. Rice, K. Beattie.

Vocational training plays an important part at Piqua Catholic. Students learn the essentials of good homemaking. Baking, balancing meals, and sewing, along with the practice of correct social etiquette, combine to prepare students for practical wholesome living. Through the facilities of Piqua Central High School, boys and girls learn the principles of art and woodshop.

S. Schneider, J. Crowl, D. Miller, J. Kiefer, R. Couchot leave for art and woodshop classes at Central High School.

For Safer Driving

The Driver Training Class inspect under the hood of the training car.

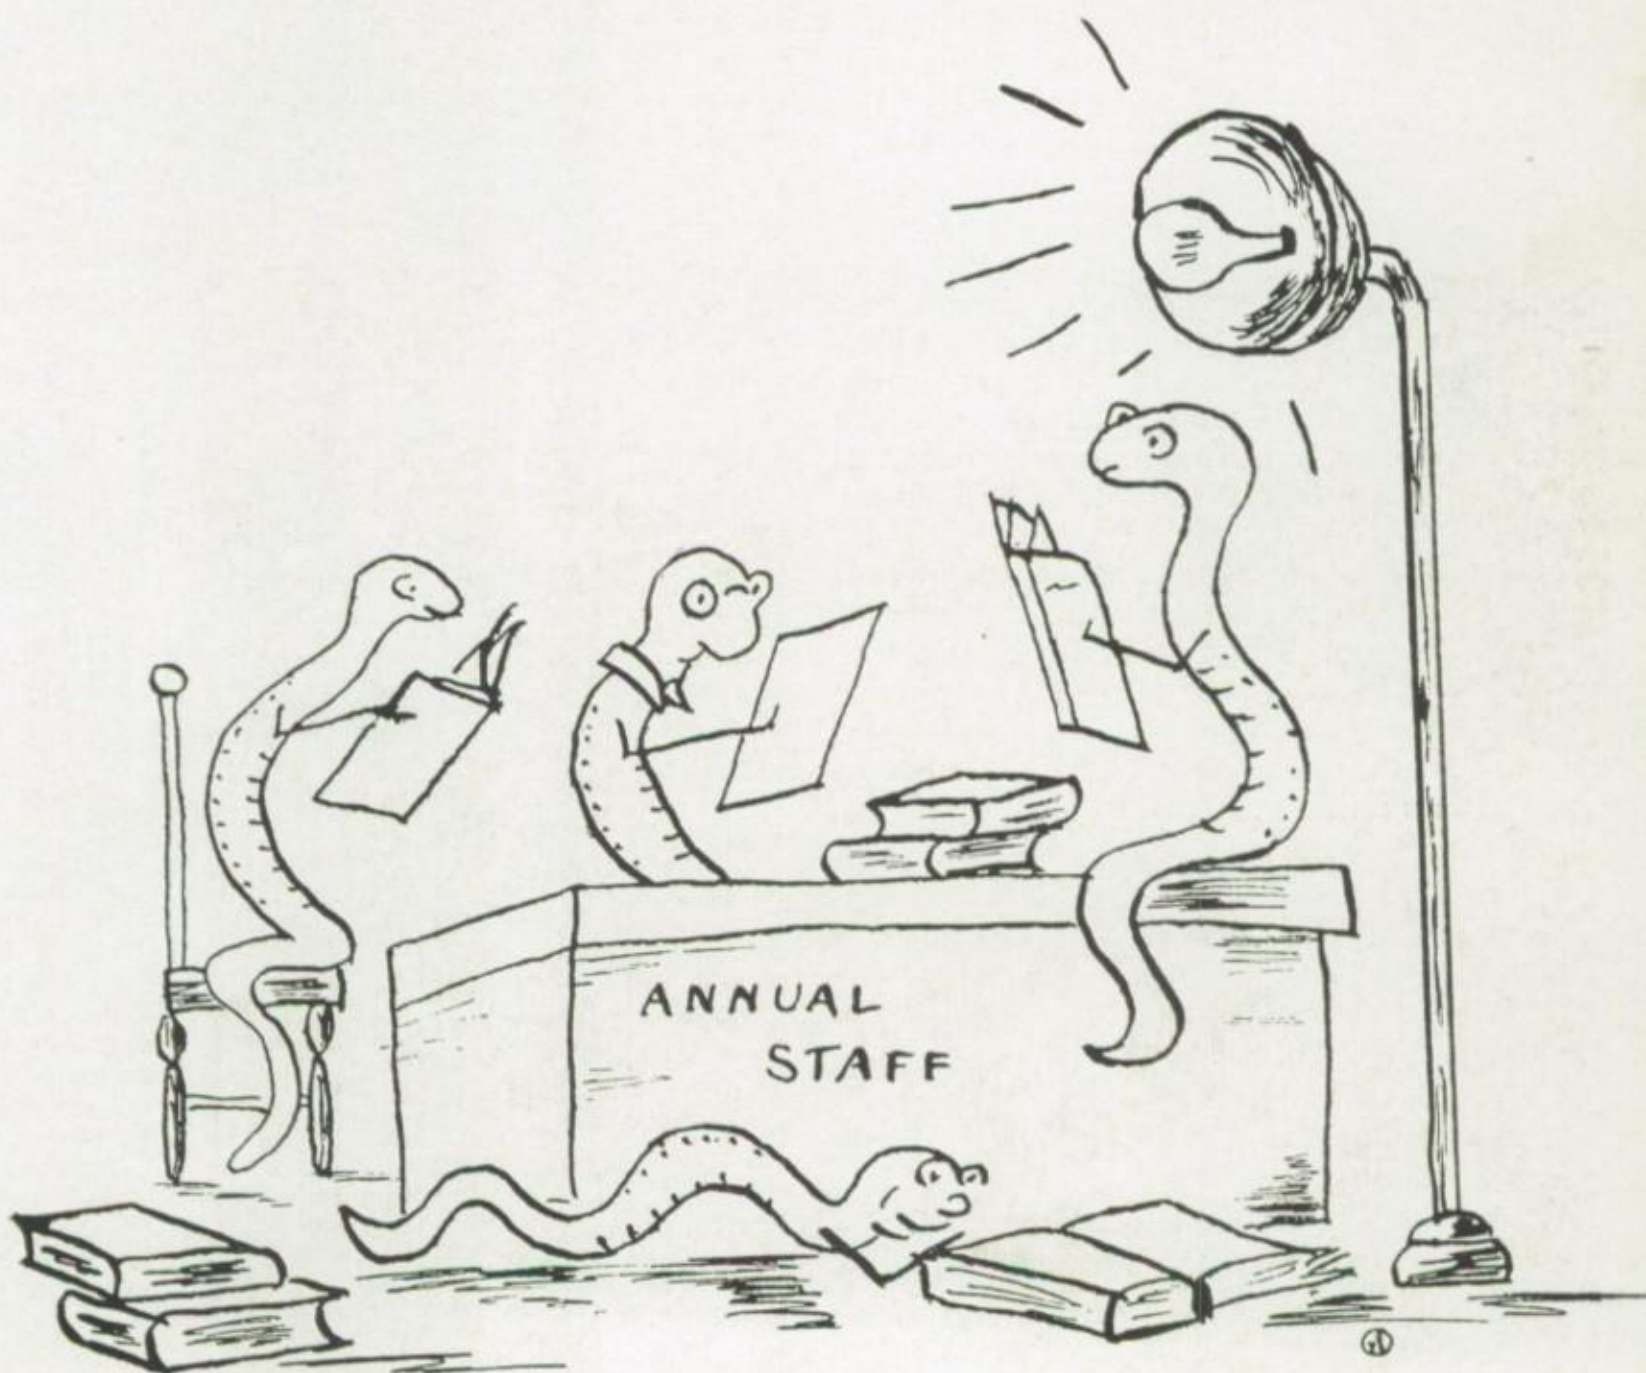

State Patrolman Donald Humphrey talks to future drivers and awards their licenses.

An opportunity is offered to Junior and Senior students to enroll in a course in Driver Education. Under the direction of Mr. Noreck, the mechanism of the car is studied. Various tests and talks are offered so that future drivers will try to develop traits which will make them alert and safety-minded on the highway.

Extra-curricular Life

Left, Father Von Kaenel blesses the Advent Wreath and says the special prayers for the ceremony. Seniors and entire student body participated in this special occasion.

Right, the Annunciation of Our Lady is portrayed by a group of sophomores at a December Mission meeting. Kneeling, M. Hoban. Standing, l. to r., A. Gorman, N. Hirschholz, S. Schneider, M. Scanlon, J. Jenkins.

Spiritual ceremonies of significance were celebrated this year at Piqua Catholic. Each First Friday during the CSMC meeting, one of the classes prepared a timely program of a religious nature. The blessing of the Advent Wreath with its special ceremonies was a daily ritual for all students during the Advent season. The Christmas Carols, too, added richness and deep meaning to the school program. Spiritual highlight of the year is the privilege of an annual retreat.

Jessie Davis crowns Our Lady, Queen, at the annual May Crowning ceremony on the first Sunday of May. Her attendants were Barbara Jenkins and Ann Smith.

C.S.M.C. leaders, l. to r., C. Sauers, treasurer; R. Hammer, president; P. Obringer, secretary; D. Stephan, vice-president, plan a mission meeting using THE SHIELD as a guide.

Through the efforts of our CSMC officers and the entire student body, our unit was able to accomplish a number of projects for the missions. Highlighting these activities was the annual Christmas basket drive. Another fund raising project was the "Queen Colleen" contest, the proceeds of which was donated to the Bishops' Relief Fund.

K. Holler, R. Klosterman, T. Kiefer, B. Gatti, J. Caulfield enroute on their Christmas mission to deliver baskets to the needy of Piqua.

Cavalier Hi-Lights

Clockwise, l. to r., P. Adlard, J. Davis, C. Reineke, B. Minnich, D. Trentine, learn the art of proofreading for work on Cavalier Hi-Lights.

Cavalier Hi-Lights is the popular student publication of Piqua Catholic High School which appears every Thursday of the school calendar in the Piqua Daily Call. Rounding out its second year, this school news sheet has served as a major outlet for the students' journalistic talents. "CHL" has come to fill a very important place in student life. It is also a source of information and enjoyment for Piqua's reading public.

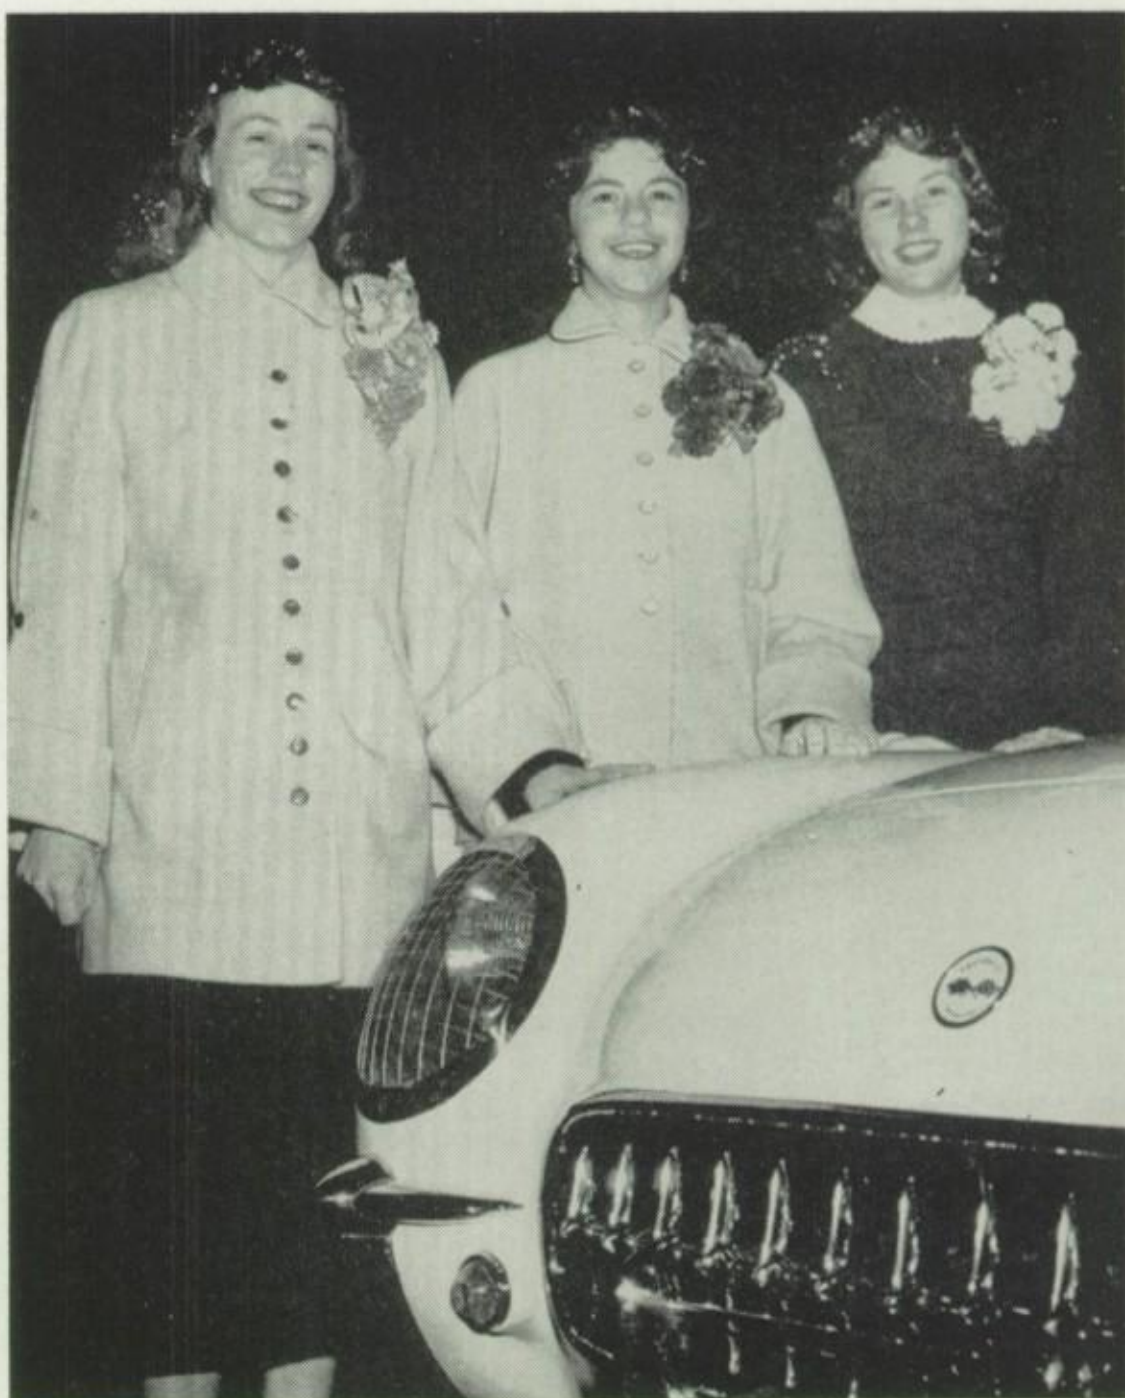

The regular "Hi-Lights" staff discuss copy for the coming issue. Standing, l. to r., J. Whitson, editor, W. Beckert, D. Swift. Row 1: B. Jenkins, S. Neiberg, B. Hoban, D. Stephan. Row 2: C. Reineke, B. Amer, C. Noles, P. Obringer. Row 3: L. Noonan.

The chief project of the concert band was the Spring Festival which was presented April 17. The members of the band worked hard and practiced long, but enjoyed presenting a variety of musical selections. This year's concert band, composed of fifty-four members, was under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Morrissey.

Horn Section: J. Whitson, D. Jenkins, D. Ventura, B. Barga, B. Bernhardt; center, P. Ventura.

"Presenting the Marching Cavaliers" . . . With these words another colorful half-time show got underway. Under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Morrissey, the 54-member band brought real honor to the Blue and Gold. Marching season began with one week at band camp in late August. The results acquired by rigorous and intensive training at this time was apparent in the fine shows presented "under the lights." This year's schedule was dotted with appearances at the Miami County Fair, Bradford Pumpkin Show and several local affairs. A retrospect of this season's performances will show a combination of fascinating drills, interesting maneuvers, and sweet music. The purpose of this Marching contingent is to reflect some honor on our Alma Mater and to inspire an active following of the football team.

The mixed voices of our choir have become a favorite to the Piqua listening public for the past several years. This achievement is due in no small part to the efforts of Mr. Kenneth Morrissey who is completing his third year as choir director. The high level and far reaching effects of their music will be topics for years to come. Paramount in the preparation for the Spring Festival were the many section rehearsals which proved their value in the final performance.

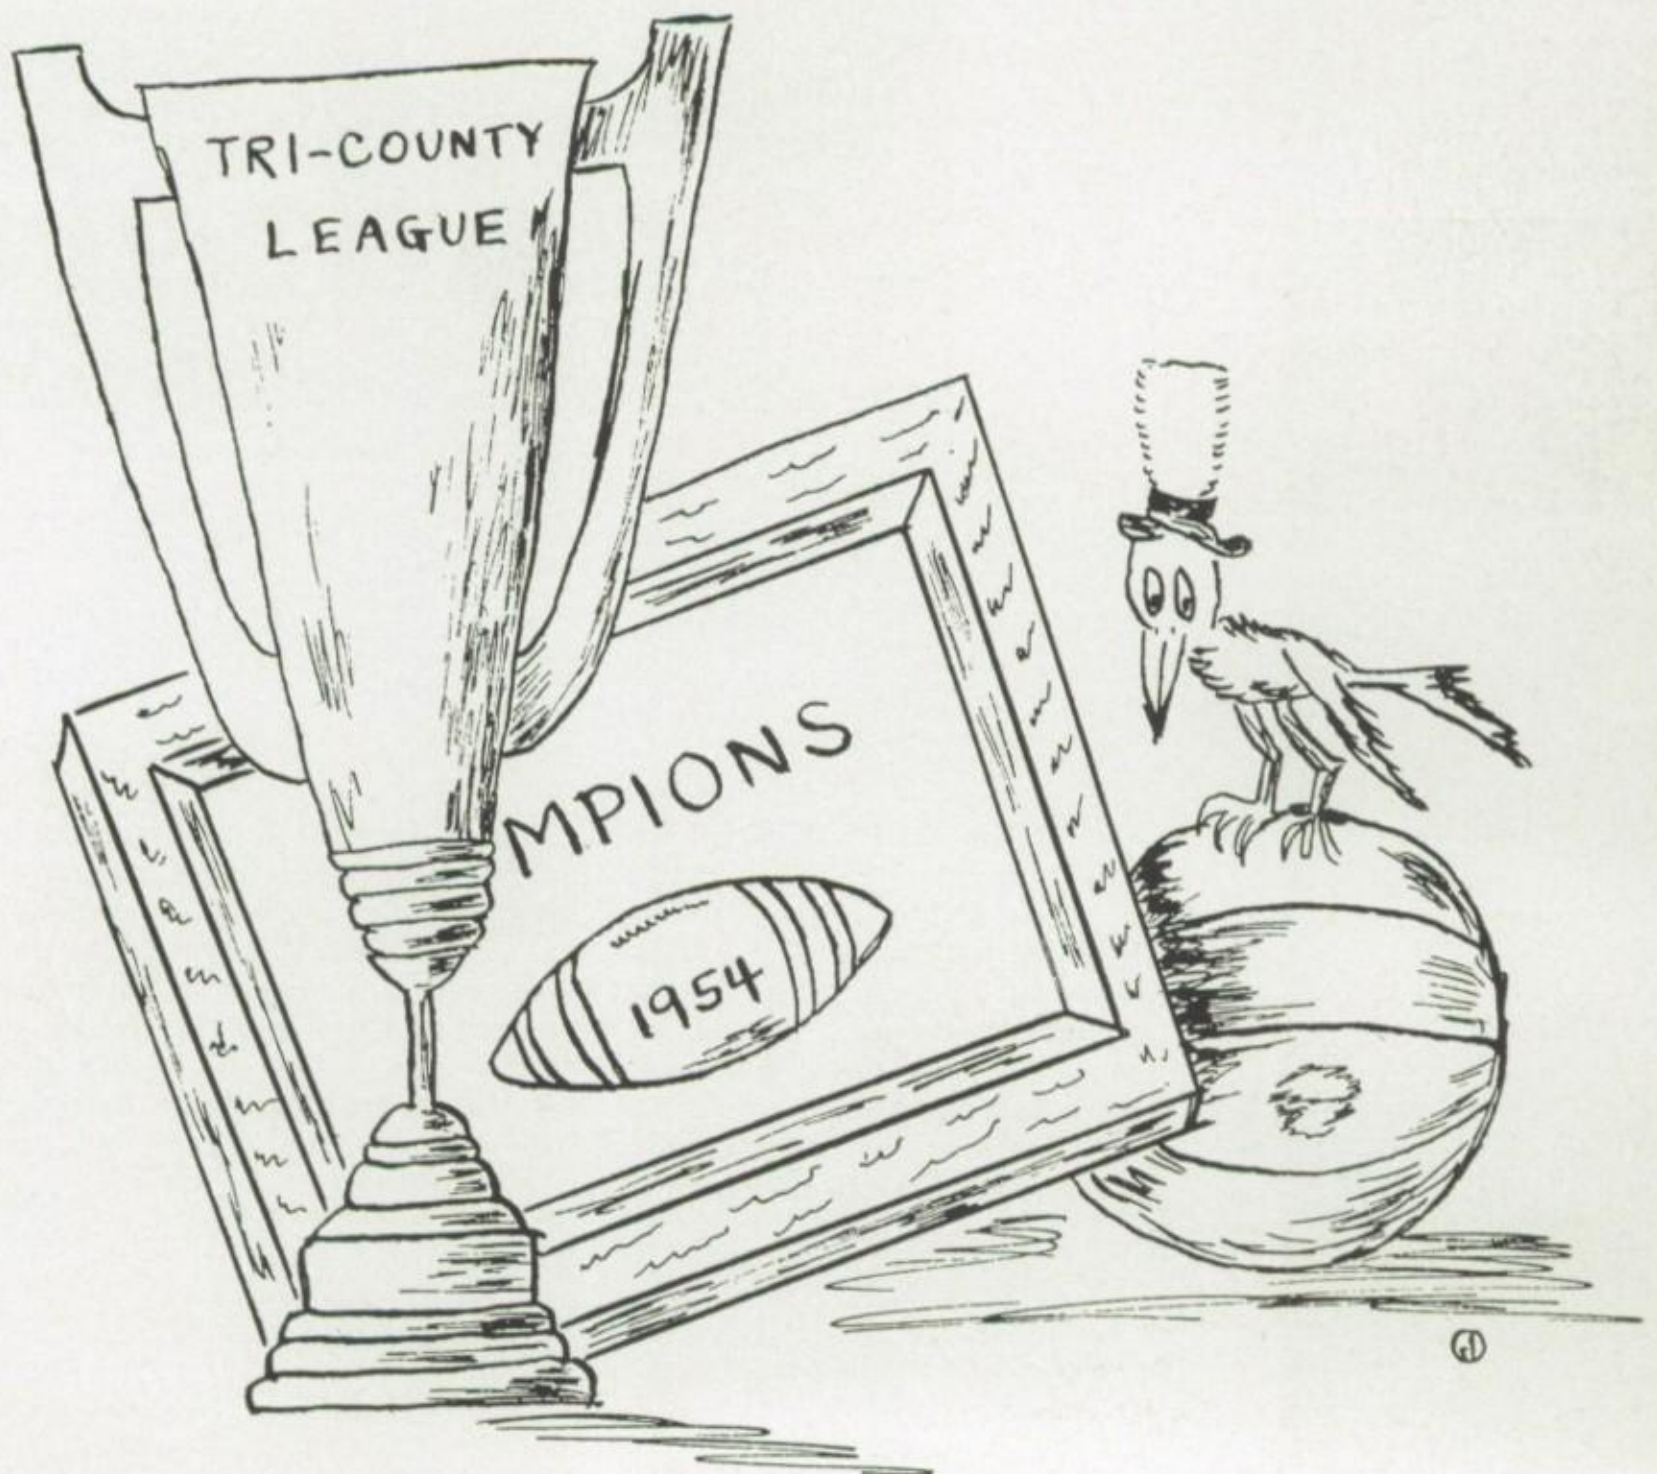

Mr. Morrissey rehearses with a group of juniors for the annual Spring Concert.

One of the most successful football teams to wear the Blue and Gold, put forth its entire effort in establishing another sensational record at Piqua Catholic High. Four years have gone by since the last championship was brought within its walls. The boys decided that this was to be their year. They had the strength, the ability, the spirit, the desire. The team became the first to record a perfect league record and to break the standing scoring mark by registering 269 points. With this season came only one loss in nine games. One thing which will remain in each boy's memory like a tiny inspiration, is Coach Guilfoyle's oft repeated quote, "A team that won't be beat, can't be beat!"

The 1955 basketball season was an exception. The record of wins was few; however the team retained the Piqua-Sidney trophy for another year. At the end of the season came the Exempted Village Tournament. Again, ability and desire to win gave the team third place honors and a try at the Springfield Class B eliminations. The first game eliminated the team, but their measure of success placed in the minds of the boys that wanting to win is half the winning.

Athletic Banquet

Principals attending the annual All Sports Banquet are l. to r., Rev. Robert Von Kaenel, Hugh Devore, co-captain G. Walker, Mr. Norbert Noreck, basketball captain J. Caulfield, co-captain T. Kiefer, Coach Bernard Guilfoyle.

The Elks Club ballroom was the scene of the annual All Sports Banquet sponsored by the Knights of Columbus to honor the athletic teams of P.C.H.S. UD's chief grid coach, Hugh Devore, was guest speaker. He provided the audience with interesting and humorous examples of high school and collegiate sportsmanship. Display of the coveted TCL trophy along with the presentation of individual player awards and letters were chief attractions for this Mid-April event.

Young Women's Christian Association

PURPOSE

To build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians.

In this endeavor we seek to understand Jesus, to share his love for all people and to grow in the knowledge and love of God.
